BALL PLAYERS OF LONG AGO RECALLED

Many Local Stars in Bygone Years Played Here

SPECTACULAR PLAYS

Sylvester Breen Gives Many Additional Names in His Review of Old Time Sand Lotters.

In the story "Reviews of Old-Time Baseball Players," the names of the following well-known and popular players were unintentionally omitted: William H. Barley, catcher; Edward "Corky" Marye, left-hand pitcher; George Hough, noted for his long-distance and accurate sling shot throwing; Norman Pruitt, a lad whose hands were knocked in every shape by coming in contact with baseballs; John Mullen, a 200 pound youth, who could hit a ball so hard it would almost flatten; Frank S. Harper, a star all around man, who would miss his dinner every day in the week to play ball; William Whalen, Matthew F. Hicks, Luther Hayden, pitcher; Frank Entwisle, "Felie" Steiner, Brinton Minor, Bernard O'Brien, Harry Price, Peter Hall, Edward Clark, 'Pete' Gray, Luther Southerland; William J. Schuler, slugger supreme, who had the goat of visiting managers, who would order their fielders to play way back when "Billy" was at bat; Fred Schuler, Peter Hoy, George West, John F. Peverell, William Poss, Walter W. Caton, "Slim" Edwards, Frank Kraft, star first baseman; Norman Kraft, catcher; George Nugent, catcher; John McCuen, Martin P. Greene, a runner who could circle the bases like a flash, and Edward "Ed" Beach, a crack all arounder.

Other excellent players performed on the ball fields of Alexandria, but their names cannot now be remembered, and, it is the wish of the writer, that he be pardoned for the omission, as no slight was intended for those worthy lads.

Harry Gentry was the official umpire for the old Alexandria baseball team. When officiating in that capacity all players were strangers to him and his decisions were rendered with fairness to both teams. He was also a tip-top pitcher.

A wonderful play was made at the Episcopal High School, near this city, about the year 1877. The old Independents were opposing the High School team. Three men were on the bases, with none out. The batter hit a terrific line drive that appeared to be a safety and the boys on the bases started to run like wild deer for home. John H. Bartlett, who was playing third base, jumped in the air caught the ball, touched third base with his foot, then threw to the catcher, who whipped the ball to second base; the second baseman threw to the first baseman, and the first baseman returned the ball to Bartlett on third base, completing a triple play, in fact getting four men out. The play was lightning-like and was made before the base-runners could return to their bases.

Many great feats have been performed by teams at different periods but that act will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. The High school team had beaten the best organizations in Virginia and the Independents forced them to lower their colors by defeating them.

Charles Steiner pitched the game in grand style and he was ably supported by Norman Pruitt, why was his regular catcher.

Steiner and Pruitt also played with the Arlingtons, of Washington, and their wonderful battery work was the pitfall for the celebrated Lord Baltimore team, of Baltimore, Md., whom they defeated in easy fashion, and almost broke the hearts of the Baltimore fans.

Major General Abner Doubleday, United States Army, is credited with being the inventor of baseball. He was stationed at Cooperstown, N. Y., in 1839. The old way of playing baseball consisted of hitting a ball and running to a base located anywhere from 50 to 100 feet from where the batter stood. After hitting the ball he ran to where a stone was laid for a base. If hit by the ball thrown from the hands of some player the batter was declared "out". Eleven players then represented each side.

The baseball diamond is the idea of Alexander W. Cartwright, a baseball player, who 'esigned it in 1845. The old diamond is nearly the same as the one now used. The distance now between the bases is 90 feet instead of any distance that suited the field in the early days of baseball.

In 1842 a pitcher was called "thrower"; catcher; second catcher or "scout;" basemen and all fielders were "scouts."

The ball had to be pitched and not thrown. A foul tip or a fly ball caught on the first bounce was an "out" A player running the bases was out if the ball was in the hands of an opponent on the base, or a runner was touched by it before he reached the base, but the ball could not be thrown at him.

The Knickerbocker ,organized September 13, 1845, is the first baseball club known to exist. This team was the first to wear uniforms on the ball field, June 3, 1851. The second team to organize was the "New York Nine," in 1846.

The first game of baseball played by organized teams was between the Knickerbockers and New York, in Hoboken, N. J., June 19, 1846.

The New York Nine won the game by a 21 to 1 score, in four innings.

In those days it was only necessary to score 21 runs to win the game, and the team that scored that many runs

BRYAN MAKES WAR ON THE DRY ISSUE

Pitted Against Wilson Forces For Victory or Political Death

HAS BACK TO THE WALL

"Moist" Plank Agreed on by Committee Makes Situation Tense—Awaiting Opening Fight

San Francisco, July 1.—According to Administration chiefs the subcommittee of nine, drafting the Democratic platform, has practically agreed on a prohibition plank which is described 'as slightly moist' and as being in 'support of the Constitutional amendment," but with declarations for personal liberty and against "vexatious interferences."

A League of Nations plank, the same Administration chiefs said, has been agreed upon "just as Woodrow Wilson wants it, without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't'.

Within 48 hours William Jennings Bryan will have been crushed by the Administration tank that is rumbling across the Democratic battle field here or he will have climbed to the driver's seat, according to every indication on the various fronts.

The fight between Bryan and President Wilson for control of the Democratic convention became more intense today with the report that Secretary of State Colby, representing the President, is working for a damp plank in the platform.

The Wilson and Bryan forces already are engaged in a bitter struggle over the question of whether the convention shall indorse the League of Nations, But even the League is overshadowed in Bryan's estimation by the wet-dry issue.

The report that Colby favors a wet plank is based on the impression that the Administration favors modification of the Volstead act. It will be recalled that Wilson vetoed the Wartime Prohibition act.

Colby is on the subcommittee actually drafting the platform planks, while Bryan is not. Therefore the latter is expected to save most of his ammunition for the open fight which is looked for on the convention floor when the platform committee reports for approval there.

MAY BE BANDIT LEADER

Alleged Chief of Robbers Who Looted Sandy Spring Bank Taken

John W. Mitchell, 37, believed to be leader of the gang of bank bandits who robbed the First National Bank at Sandy Springs, Md., and killed Director Francis H. Halowell, April 26, was arrested in New York city yesterday.

He was not easily taken. He is 6 feet 2 inches in height, weighs more than 200 pounds, chiefly whipcord muscle, and fought like a wild cat. It took four men to conquer him, and all were battered when they reached the station. They finally subdued him with a black jack.

Ten operatives of the Pinkerton New York branch and detectives from New York police headquarters from New York police headquarters captured Mitchell and three others; two men, giving the names of Harry Myers and John Doyle, and a woman believed to have been associated with Mitchell in his varied operations.

All three men arrested were armed with .45-calibre automatics. New York authorities say the quartet was taken while discussing plans for a hold up job in a New York jewelry store. Detailed drawings of the floor plan of the store were found in Mitchell"s pocket when he was searched at headquarters.

Mitchell is being held under an indictment charging him with robbing the jewelry store of James R. Armiger and Co., 310 North Charles street, Baltimore, from which $20,000 worth of diamonds was taken March 9. The indictment also charges him with having assaulted and attempted to kill Charles E. Williar, a Baltimore automobile salesman, shot by the bandits when he attempted to prevent their escape.

Clarence Adams, 39, arrested in Camden, N. J., and Frank Wilson, alias "Patrick Kelly," arrested in Philadelphia, are the other two men now held at the Baltimore city jail, charged with implications in the Sandy Spring case.

PICNIC ENDS IN DEATH

Boy and Sister Drown as Parents Eat "Snack" in Woods

Romping off to play in Occoquan Creek while their mother and father were preparing a picnic spread, 10 year old Walter Searl, Jr., and 11 year old sister, Alchea Elizabeth were drowned yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock at Occoquan Creek. They were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Searl, of Philadelphia, Pa., on their way to Washington following a motor tour in Virginia.

The family had stopped for lunch in the ruins of an old cotton mill on the banks of Occoquan creek. The children went off to play and finally sitting on a rock started to fish. The lunch prepared, the parents called to the children, but received no answer.

They searched and found their lifeless bodies, the waters of the creek rippling over them. It is thougt one of the children slipped from the rock and the other in trying to help, slipped also, and both were drowned.

The tiny bodies were prepared for shipment at Occoquan to be taken back to Philadelphia for burial.

Fun For Children

Playgrounds at Lee School Opened For Summer

Despite the hot weather a good sized crowd of children were present today at the opening of the playgrounds at Lee School building.

Among the attractions for the youngsters will be asketball, volley ball, and a game called Solog. The kiddies have a sand pile where they make rollick in fun during the day.

The grounds need a little dressing up before they will be in fit shape for the usual enjoyment of the sports and the work of having them whipped into shape was begun today by Miss Evelyn Howard, director and her assistant, Miss Hilde Schneider.

It is pointed out that many things are needed to put things in smooth running order. Among the essential things are water for the children, croquet sets, etc. The need of funds to continue the work is also paramount just now. The kindergarten will be conducted every morning during the week days and material for this department also is needed it is stated.

Boys between the ages of eleven and fifteen years are already being organizd into teams to play the games mentioned above.

It is expected that the grounds will be largely patronized throughout the summer months.

FAVORITE SONS ARE NOMINATED

Shouting and Tumult Mark Yesterday's Session

GLASS IS LOOMING UP

Virginian Considered Brainest Man in Country Today With Possible Exception of Wilson.

Convention Hall, San Francisco, July 1.—Yesterday was nomination day in the San Francisco convention, a day of oratory and applause, of shouting and tumult for favorite sons, a great occasion of reviewing in picturesque and striking language the qualifications of nearly a dozen men who are deemed fit to occupy the Presidency.

From 11.30 in the morning until nearly 6 o'clock in the afternoon, the delegates and the occupants of the crowded galleries listened as the merits of the various candidates were extolled and joined in the cheering as their respective favorites were placed in nomination before the convention.

Ten candidates were placed in nomination before the convention. They were in the order of presentation: Robert Lee Owen, Oklahoma; James W. Gerard, New York; Homer S. Cummings, Connecticut; Gilbert H. Hitchcock, Nebraska; Mitchell Palmer, Pennsylvania; Edwin T. Meredith, Iowa; James M. Cox, Ohio; Edward I. Edwards, New Jersey; Alfred E. Smith, New York.

The name of William Gibbs McAdoo was placed in nomination before the convention with an explanation that he was an available candidate although he was not formally nominated.

It turned the convention topsy turvy and outwinded those of all other favorites, lasting forty minutes.

United States Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, may be the compromise nominee of the Democratic national convention for President of the United States. This was the suggestion made by John Stewart Bryan, who arrived here Tuesday with Colonel Fred W. Scott, John W. Craddock Colonel Thomas B. McAdams, Captain A. S. Buford and Major A. M. Doyle, all of whom are the most enthusiastic of the supporters of the brilliant Virginia senator.

Mr. Bryan declared that he had been assurred by the delegations from Kentucky, Texas and other states that Senator Glass is considered the brainiest man in the country today, with the possible exception of President Wilson. Senator Glass declared that he knew nothing of the campaign in his behalf and that he was not an active candidate for the nomination.

When the state of Virginia is reached on roll call Congressman H. D. Flood, of the Tenth district, will arise and present the name of Senator Glass. There is to be no set speech in presenting his name, and Congressman Flood, who is chairman of the Virginia delegation, will make it known that "Virginia's favorite son is ready to do the bidding of his party and awaits the call for service." That will be all, but there will be a demonstration following this, and the belief is that delegates from many of the other states will rally to the standard of the Old Dominion.

There will be a special meeting at the Salvation Army Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be in charge of Capt. Irene McCann, the sweet singer from Washington, D. C., assisted by Envoy Bessie Lameraux.

THE COMING FOURTH

Queries have been put to the authorities recently concerning the exact species of fireworks which will be allowed on July 4. It may be stated that only the use of explosives, which are an annoyance to many peope, and in most cases dangerous, have been placed under the ban. Philadelphia seems to have gone to its ne plus ultra, as the use of sparklers has been interdicted. Most people will not agree with the Councilmen of the city of brotherly love. The Fourth of July is a joyous event to the young, while its spirit is often manifested in those of mature years Colored lights and sparklers, so much enjoyed on the night of July 4th, are seemingly innocent contrivaces, and, handled carefully, are not likely to cause accidents.

It is the ear-splitting explosives which make the Fourth of July hideous to the many in by gone years. The incessant fusilade which was carried on weeks before the coming of the holiday and about as many after it passed away brought about the present war on explosives. Besides the many accidents which occurred from the careless handling of explosives rendered it necessary to prohibit such contrivances for the public safety.

ALEXANDRIA'S OFFICIALS

The Gazette on sundry occasions has directed attention to the fact that our city officials whose services are justly appreciated, are elected to succeed themselves without opposition.

Today—July 1st—marks the anniversary of the induction into public office of four officials who have faithfully served the city for two decades and more.

City Auditor E. F. Price was elected in May, 1885. His term began in July following, which makes him the dean of the city officials and is the longest service, so far as we know, of any person who has served continuously in an elective office in excess of a quarter of a century.

Collector Gorman comes next, he having been elected in May, 19, 1889, and qualified on the 1st of July following.

City Treasurer Robinson was elected in May, 1900. He qualified July 1, of the same year.

The first three named officials had election contests, but Treasurer Robinson was elected without opposition in the primary or general election.

BLACKBERRY CORDIAL

Blackberry cordial has been added by the Bureau of Internal Revenue to the list of intoxicating liquors and may be sold by druggists in retail quantities o fless than five gallons only to persons who have obtained permits to purchase intoxicating liquor.

Instructions have been issued to Federal prohibition directors detailing a number of preparations containing alcohol which are held to be fit for beverage purposes and are, therefore, regarded as intoxicating and subject to the prohibition regulations.

Elixir of licorice came under the bureau's ban along with the elixirs of aniseed and bitter orange. Compound spirits of juniper and myrcia were ruled intoxicating as well as compound tincture of lavender and a number of other pharmacutical preparations.

Placing the ban on blackberry cordial recalls the fact that sixty or more years ago this preparation was regarded as one of Alexandria's most valued household medicines. The cordial was prepared by the late Edward Stabler, and sold by him at his drug store on the northwest corner of King and Washington streets. This preparation could be found in many medicine chests in our city, with "Rock salve," another Alexandria production, believed in by most households. The salve was a production of the late Richard Rock, a blacksmith of the olden time, who was the father of George W. and William Rock.

Blackberry cordial was believed to be a panacea for summer troubles among children. It was a pleasant medicine and its effects were generally satisfactory. But we can no longer proceed to Stabler's drug store and purchase a bottle for 25 cents as did the fathers and grandfathers of the present, generation. A permit must now be obtained.

were the victors.

The first baseball team to play in Alexandria was the Mount Vernons, and I am informed by reliable authority that it was a fast and great fielding club and that it was most successful in winning games. President Edward L Daingerfield, of the Citizens National Bank, was the star first baseman, and it is said that he could play that position in Hal Chase style.

Mr. Edgar Warfield was shortstop, and a star of the infield. All members of that team were gentlemen of the highest grade and proved their worth as soldiers, business men and others in occupations. When players leave their beds to go out to the playing field for practiceas early as 5 o'clock in the morning, they surely do love baseball, but that is what these lads used to do.

The following is the line-up of the Old Dominion baseball team:

In the years between 1870 and 1876 when the fathers and mothers, brother and sister, and the young men and their sweethearts, accompanied by full baskets loaded with fried chicken and everything good to eat and drink would make their way to the Washington and Ohio Railroad depot to enjoy an all-day family excursion to Carlin's Springs. The old wood-burning engine would be hitched to the gaudily-painted excursion cars, the band would play, the conductor would signal the engineer to start and then everybody was happy. The excursionists sure had a jolly time fighting off the big burning cinders and enjoying the rolling to and fro of the cars en route, that was almost as bad as the rolling of a ship on the ocean during a storm.

After arriving at Carlin's Springs, the first thing heard would be the "Hoo,hoo; hoo, hoo, hook" of the big bass fiddle over in the pavilion, and then they would yell "Baseball! baseball." The teams would lay out a rough diamond and the game start. Many of the players listed in this story have participated in those contests, and, no doubt will enjoy this reminder.

In my next baseball story I will deaver to describe the star baseball players from 1910 to 1920, and my writing and motto will be "justice to all; malice to none."

Sylvester A. Breen.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Morphine valued at $96,000 was seized by the Newport News police when the vice and booze squad raided the home of George Katsares and arrested Katsares for violating the federal Harrison narcotic law. Two huge candy boxes were found completely filled with the precious dope, which, at a conservative price, is valued at $7 a grain.

Lee Beard, charged with manslaughter in Henry County, has been acquitted of that charge, but has been fined $50 for reckless driving and for driving a car while intoxicated. Beard drove the machine which overturned, killing Joel Dodson some weeks ago. He denied that he was intoxicated.

Pleasant P. Via, 76, of Browns Cove, Albemarle county who sustained a broken shoulder and hip when he was thrown from his buggy Tuesday morning, died Tuesday night at the University Hospital.

Newport News board of school trustees have been requested to resign by the three lodges of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics in that city. The resignations are demanded in consequence of the board's action in bringing certain charges against D. A. Dutrow, a division superintendent.

Donald H. Gawthrop, member of the news staff of the Richmond Times Dispatch, was drowned yesterday while swimming at the city park, Richmond. It is thought an attack of the heart was responsible.

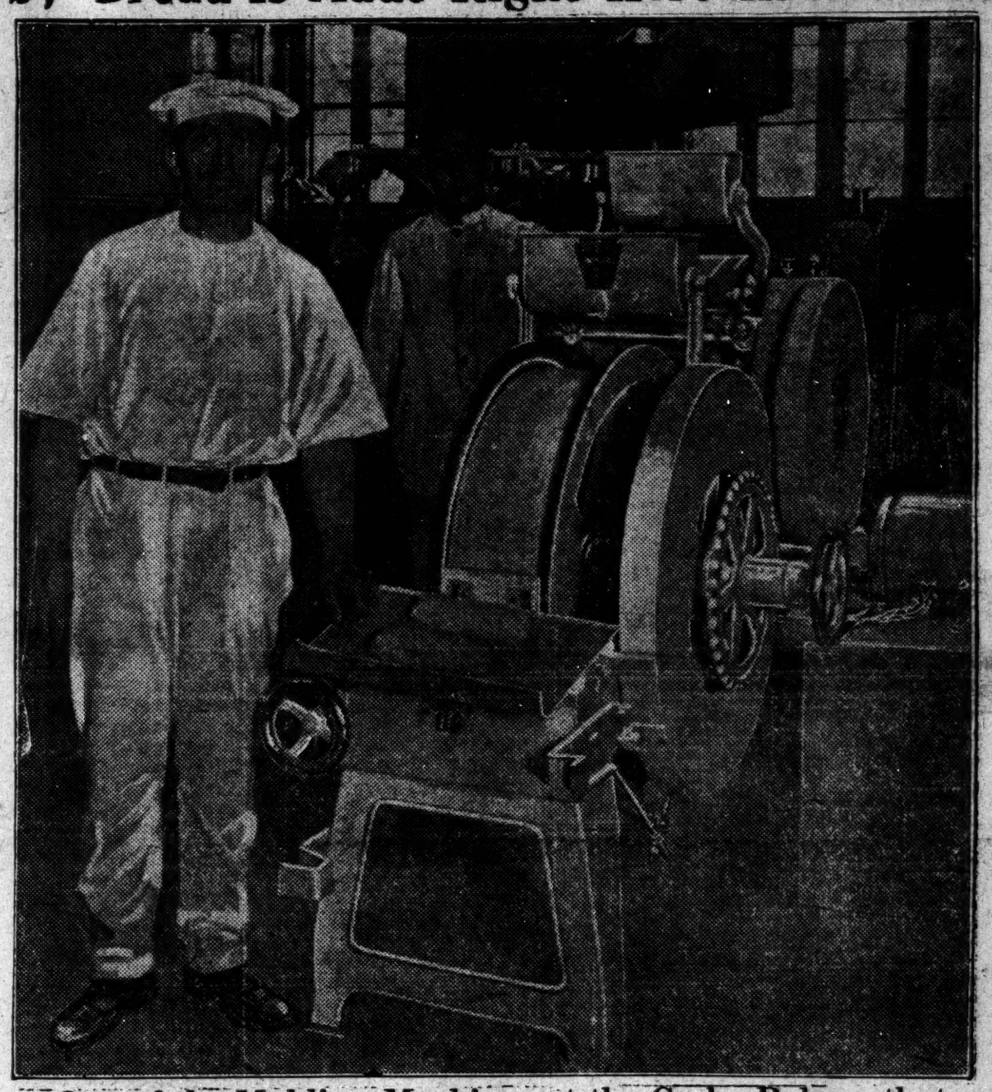
Corby Bread Is Made Right Here In Alexandria



One of the Molding Machines at the Corby Bakery that performs a human task with unfailing accuracy.

Molding the Loaf for the Pans.

We have shown you how critically every ingredient entering into Corby Bread is selected; how scientifically the maximum of gluten (that strength-building element) is developed; how carefully the purity is safeguarded!

The molding machines are the next link in the chain of advanced production.

The Messrs Corby invented and designed, and the Corby Baking Company in Washington was the first to use, a practical machine for molding the dough into loaf formation—the sailent features of which form the foundation of every successful machine now on the market.

The Molding Machine is reliable in its accuracy—but chiefly advantageous in that there can be delegated to automatic apparatus a very important detail in the character [illegible]earance of the loaf—thus leaving the skilled and experienced operators free to exercise keen judgment and give closer observation to the maintenance of the Corby standard, without the hamper of unnecessary manual labor.

Diamond Squeegee Tread TIRES

MORE than two million Diamond Tires are in use—now, almost one for every third car in the United States.

The reason that hundreds of thousands of motorists are buying Diamond Tires is because Diamonds are delivering the service.

Small wonder that motorists buy more Diamonds than any other tire not sold to car manufacturers for original equipment.

Good Light Lightens Labor : :

Lighting the kitchen is like lighting a factory. Good lighting quickens production, as the factory man would say. In other words, it makes work go faster without the expenditure of any more energy.

Of all places needing more light and better light the kitchen in most homes is one of the most important. And when you have doubled or trebled the light in your work rooms, try it also in your living rooms.

If you find that doubling or trebling the illumination there mean glaring light, don't cut down the amount of lighting again—shade the light better! Keep the direct rays from striking the eye. Throw some of the light to the ceiling and walls.

In every socket—in every room from cellar to garret—use only

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

If you will do that, you will find that a great deal more light in the room is decorative, pleasing and restful. It's not the amount of LIGHT that you find irritating in some rooms, but the amount of GLARE.

OUR METER MEN REPORT THAT A NUMBER OF OUR CUSTOMERS ARE USING CARBON LAMPS. WHY NOT BE UP TO DATE? USE MAZDA LAMPS—BETTER LIGHT—LOWER BILLS.
